1. ELIGIBILITY

ROUTE TO QUALIFICATION AS A SOLICITOR

Am I eligible to apply to the Law School to commence PPC Hybrid?

All applicants must have first:

- passed or been exempt from the Preliminary Examination,
- passed the Final Examination – First Part
- secured a suitable practising solicitor to act as a training solicitor.
- Applicants must be at least 17 years old.

It is compulsory before applying to the PPC Hybrid that all applicants have secured a training contract with an eligible solicitor to provide training and experience over a two-year period.

Who is eligible to be my training solicitor?

Not all solicitors are eligible to become a training solicitor. In order to become a training solicitor the solicitor must be a practising solicitor who has been in continuous practice for at least four years.

A practising solicitor is defined as a solicitor who is engaged full time in the provision of legal services as:

- a sole practitioner, or
- a partner in a firm of solicitors, or
- a solicitor in the whole time employment of a body corporate, or
- a solicitor in the full-time service of the State within the meaning of section 54 (as substituted by section 62 of the Solicitors (Amendment) Act, 1994) of the Solicitors Act, 1954.

Any solicitor not sure of their post qualification time should contact the Regulation Department of the Law Society or refer to previous practicing certificates. Alternatively if the proposed training solicitor does not satisfy the eligibility criteria but wishes to engage a trainee they should contact the Traineeship section for further guidance.

A training solicitor must be able to offer you the full range of legal experience required by the regulations. For further information please refer to Section 4 of this guide.

How many trainees can a solicitor employ?

A training solicitor can train two trainees at any one time. For the purposes of this rule the Law Society of Ireland is concerned with the actual number of trainees in the office. That is the number of trainees who will be training at the same time. The in-office training period traditionally starts 14 days after the last examination on the Professional Practice Course or the last day of the course.

Additional trainees can be employed if there are assistant solicitors working in your proposed firm. In this instance, one further trainee can be engaged for every two assistant solicitors employed by the firm.

2. APPLYING TO THE LAW SCHOOL

B. Applicants with a criminal conviction

The application pack states that:

"Any applicant with a criminal conviction is prohibited from joining the Law School until the following requirements have been satisfied:

- (a) Letter from applicant giving a brief description of the offence
- (b) Letter/Evidence from the Garda Station where the charge was given setting out details of the offence and any court case, penalties or fines resulting from the conviction
- (c) An application to the Education Committee of the Law Society

The Education Committee will then make a decision as to whether or not the applicant will be permitted to join the PPC Hybrid. We cannot advise on the outcome of the Committee as every case is considered individually.

Once the Education committee makes its decision we will advise the applicant in writing. If the decision is favourable we will then process the application for the PPC Hybrid."

The Education Department, specifically the Traineeship Section has been asked to advise potential applicants that the Society has the ability to grant a practising certificate, grant a practising certificate with conditions or refuse a practising certificate as provided for in Section 49 of the Solicitors Act 1954, as substituted by Section 61 of the Solicitors (Amendment) Act 1994, as amended by section 2 of Solicitors (Amendment) Act 2002. If a solicitor has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment or a criminal conviction, they must inform the Society with their practising certificate application and a determination will be made by the Regulation of Practice Committee whether to issue a practising certificate (PC) to that solicitor - a PC may be issued, a PC with conditions may be issued or the PC may be refused.

In other words trainee solicitors who have met all the requirements to be able to join the Roll of Solicitors are not guaranteed that they will be granted an unlimited practising certificate or a practising certificate at all.

C. What happens once I send in my application?

Once the Law Society receives your application it is then checked to ensure all the necessary documentation is included. Your application will be assessed on the basis that you have disclosed all relevant and material information which might affect the Society's decision to grant you formal consent to enter into Indentures of Apprenticeship. If you intentionally or negligently withhold any information, the Society may have the right to subsequently withdraw consent. You may be called for interview by the Society to go through any aspect of your application.

- If your application is complete an acknowledgement of receipt of your application and fee will be issued to you. Incomplete or incorrect applications will be returned to you at the address given by you on Form 1. This process takes 4 weeks.
- If your application is successful a letter giving Consent to enter into Indentures of Apprenticeship will then be sent to you and to your proposed training solicitor. Your Indentures of Apprenticeship deed will be included with the consent letter. This deed must be returned to the Law School within 6 months of the consent letter date, duly executed by yourself and the proposed training solicitor. If Consent is issued less than 6 months before the commencement date of PPC Hybrid the deed must be returned and registered before the start of the course It is at this stage you are provisionally assigned a place on the PPC Hybrid course.

This process takes 2 – 3 weeks.

Points to remember when completing your Indentures of Apprenticeship Deed:-

- The date at the top of Form 3 should be the same as the date on Form 4A Part 2. These dates should be dated post consent letter date.
- On Form 4A if No.3 part 2 is not applicable to you, same should not be completed. This part can be crossed out.
- On Form 4B if No. 4 part 2 is not applicable to you, same should not be completed. This part can be crossed out.
- Anyone, except your training solicitor or a family member, can witness your Indenture deed.

- We will acknowledge in writing receipt of your correctly executed Indenture deed. Your deed of Indentures will then be forwarded to the registrar of solicitors to be registered. If any part of your Indenture deed is incorrect or incomplete we will return the deed to you for amendments.

This process takes 6 – 8 weeks.

- Once we have received the registered deed back from the registrar we will return it to you. It is your responsibility to keep your deed in a safe place, as you may need to refer to it from time to time. Once your deed has been registered and returned to you your place on the PPC Hybrid is confirmed.
- Once your place is confirmed, you can expect to receive information on how to register at least one month before the commencement of the PPC Hybrid.

3. FEES AND FINANCIAL HELP

How much are the fees?

Fees are subject to change on an annual basis. The PPC Hybrid fee for 2024 is €11,350. The deadline for payment of the course fees is 15 November 2024. If your fees are paid late you will incur a late payment fee of €75.00

Law Society Bursary Scheme

Law Society Access Programme

The Law Society Access Scholarship Programme aims to assist students from socio-economically disadvantaged backgrounds to gain access to professional legal education. Depending on applicants' individual circumstances the Scholarship can assist with:

- Waived FE-1 exam fees – up to a maximum of four full sittings within two years of joining the Programme.
- Access to core texts related to FE-1 exams through the Society's library.
- Waived Professional Practice Course fees.
- Maintenance funding

Application is by interview and by means of an application form. Applications are accepted at any time of the year however interviews take place twice per year in June and December. Priority for Access PPC funding is given to individuals who joined Access at FE1 stage and as Access funded places on the PPC are limited to 12 places per course a successful Access applicant applying to join the access programme at PPC stage for funding may have to wait until an Access funded place becomes available on a later PPC course in order to receive Access PPC funding. For further details please contact Access on Tel: 01672 4802 or email access@lawsociety.ie or visit the website www.lawsociety.ie – fees and funding section.

Tax relief on fees

The PPC Hybrid course is eligible for tax relief. The relief will apply at the standard rate of tax and can be claimed (through your local tax office). The maximum amount of fees that can be claimed under the above is €7,000 per annum.

When will I receive my timetable?

Every effort is made to ensure that the timetables are made available to you before the course commences although this cannot be guaranteed. As soon as the timetable is ready it will be posted on the Law Society website.

Are training solicitors under an obligation to pay course fees?

No. Your training solicitor is under no obligation to pay your course fees. However, the payment of fees can constitute a deductible expense for tax purposes and any training solicitor wishing to know more about this should contact their local tax office. The Law Society does not hold any information on this. The payment of course fees can lead to a reduction in the salary levels payable to the trainee under the National Minimum Wage Act, 2000

What salary am I entitled to?

A summary of the National Minimum Wage Act can be found at the back of this booklet. Please tear out and keep for your own records. If you have any queries regarding the National Minimum Wage Act (NMWA) please contact the Workplace Relations Commission's Information and Customer Service via Information and Customer Service, O'Brien Road, Carlow R93W7W2.

Examination results information:

Trainee Solicitors are working in a professional regulated environment under the supervision of their training solicitor. Training firms allow trainee solicitors the opportunity to work on important client related matters for which training solicitors are required to maintain professional indemnity insurance. On this basis, i.e. the adequate supervision of the trainee solicitor, the Law Society considers that it is of crucial importance that training solicitors / training firms are kept apprised of their trainee solicitor's progress on the Professional Practice Course and associated Advanced Electives. This is achieved by providing examination results for trainee solicitors to training firms / training solicitors.

4. THE TRAINING PROGRAMME

The in-office training period traditionally commences 14 days after completion of the final exam on the PPC and it is the core of the solicitor training programme. PPC Hybrid trainees have an advantage of being able to potentially engage in employment during PPC Hybrid. If that employment is with the training solicitor or any other practising solicitor then you may accrue partial credit of up to five-months for in-office training occurring during the PPC (This is in addition to any credit that might apply if you are entitled to credit for in-office training with your training solicitor or another practising solicitor immediately prior to starting PPC). During the course of the in-office training period trainees must have the opportunity to receive instruction and obtain experience in a variety of areas of law as well as in practice in skills such as drafting; letter writing; interviewing; legal research; negotiations and oral presentation. This experience and practice must be undertaken under the supervision and guidance of a training solicitor.

What areas of law will I cover during the in-office training period?

You are required to obtain experience in three distinct areas of law to include contentious and non-contentious matters.

The period of in-office training is considered to be a vital and essential component of the overall training programme. In-office visits are carried out as a way of ensuring that flexible, interactive and responsive in-office training programmes are in progress.

How long is the training contract?

The training period is two years. Up to four months of relevant work experience obtained in the year immediately preceding the start of the PPC can count towards the two year training period. This is known as credit.

The in-office training period is organised around the Professional Practice Courses. The training period formally commences 14 days after the last exam or the last day of the PPC Hybrid. If you did work in an office before the PPC Hybrid your indentures still formally commence on this date – credit works to take off time at the end; it doesn't change the formal start date.

How much credit can I apply for?

Pre PPC Hybrid Credit

A trainee may apply for credit (up to a maximum of four months) for work done Pre-PPC Hybrid in the office of a training solicitor or other practising solicitor within the jurisdiction of the State. It may also be claimed for work carried out in any part of the Courts Service where that work related to the provision of legal (including judicial) services within the State. In-office training Pre-PPC Hybrid is optional. The time for which, credit is sought must be completed in one block within the twelve months immediately preceding attendance on the PPC Hybrid. The minimum amount of credit time you can claim is one week.

Credit accruing during the PPC Hybrid

PPC Hybrid trainees will potentially be able to engage in employment during the PPC Hybrid. If that employment is with the training solicitor or any other practising solicitor within the jurisdiction of the State then you may accrue partial credit of up to five-months for in-office training occurring during the PPC. (This is in addition to any credit that might apply if you are entitled to credit for in-office training with your training solicitor or another practising solicitor or for work carried out in any part of the Courts Service related to the provision of legal (including judicial) services within the State immediately prior to starting PPC Hybrid).

When can I apply for credit?

You must have completed 13 months of your in-office training before you can apply for credit. (Credit Application forms are available from the Law Society website)

<https://www.lawsociety.ie/Trainees/In-office-Training/Credit-Applications/>

When will I qualify?

The expiry date of your training contract is not your qualification date. It simply means that the contract between you and your training solicitor is at an end. You qualify once:

- all statutory and regulatory requirements concerning your education and training have been met, and
- you have been accepted onto the Roll of Solicitors.

What is a secondment?

A secondment is an opportunity for you, during the course of your training, to work elsewhere other than at your training solicitor's office. With the prior consent of the Law Society and your training solicitor you may spend up to a maximum of six months of the in-office training period working in employment elsewhere. Under the Education and Training Regulations, trainees are allowed to engage in work (in Ireland or abroad) provided it "...would be advantageous to such a trainee in the furtherance of his/her education or training (or both) and his / her preparation for admission to the solicitor's profession".

Is a secondment compulsory?

A secondment is compulsory if your training solicitor cannot offer you experience in three distinct areas of law. Your training solicitor is required to declare this to the Law Society when seeking Consent to enter into Indentures. Please find on the next page the format of the letter that should be included with your application in relation to any in-office training that must be acquired outside of the office of your proposed training solicitor. Please amend with relevant details and include with your application if applicable.

THE “LIVING WAGE”

The Education Committee of the Law Society of Ireland, whilst recognising that it exceeds the minimum statutory wage under the National Minimum Wage Act 2000 (“NMWA 2000”, see below), recommends that a training solicitor gives consideration to paying his or her trainee solicitor the higher non-statutory “living wage” published from time to time by the Vincentian Partnership, as found and defined on its website (www.livingwage.ie).¹

The current “living wage” hourly rate is €14.80 per hour and therefore, based on the recommended 36 hour work week, represents a weekly salary of €532.80.

STATUTORY MINIMUM WAGE / SALARY

A training solicitor is obliged to pay his/her trainee solicitor a minimum salary under the terms of the NMWA 2000. From 1 January 2024, the statutory national minimum wage for an experienced adult employee is €12.70 per hour (the “Statutory Wage”). An experienced adult employee, for the purposes of the NMWA 2000 is an employee who has had employment of any kind in any two years over the age of 18.

(i) Pre-Professional Practice Course (PPC)

A trainee solicitor who works in his/her training solicitor’s office prior to starting the PPC must be paid a salary of at least the Statutory Wage. This is €457.20 per week based on the Education Committee’s recommendation of a 36-hour work week. Four months can be credited against the duration of the two-year training period for a trainee who works in the training solicitor’s (or another practicing solicitor’s) office before commencing on the PPC.

(ii) During the fulltime PPC course

Where a trainee solicitor is attending the fulltime PPC having worked for their training firm immediately prior to commencing the course with the intention of returning to that firm on completion of the course to complete his or her twenty-four month in-office training period, the Law Society is of the view that there is a requirement under the National Minimum Wage Act, 2000 that the trainee solicitor is paid at least the National Minimum Wage hourly rate for the duration of the course based on a thirty hour week (during the course). This is on the basis that the PPC is a work related course taking place during the trainee’s normal working hours.”

(iii) During the two year in-office training period

A trainee solicitor must be paid a salary of at least the Statutory Wage during his/her two year in-office training period. This is €457.20 per week based on the Education Committee’s recommendation of a 36-hour work week. This is €1,981 per month or €23,775 per annum. Hours worked in excess of 36 hours per week must also be paid at least the Statutory Wage.

¹ Proposed by the Education Committee (6th December 2018)

(iv) Enforcement

A trainee solicitor, who is not satisfied that he/she is being paid the Statutory Wage is entitled to make a complaint² to the Workplace Relations Commission.

The NWMA 2000 provides for the imposition of criminal sanctions on an employer who is found to have failed to pay an employee the Statutory Wage.
