Anthony Hussey is a partner in the firm of Hussey Fraser solicitors. He has been involved both as an advocate and as an arbitrator in hundreds of arbitrations, both domestic and international. He has been appointed as arbitrator by the Chairman of the Institute of Arbitrators (Irish Branch), the President of the Law Society of Ireland and the ICC International Court of Arbitration in Paris. He became a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators in 1990 and obtained a diploma in International Commercial Arbitration (winning the Cedrick Barklay Prize for award writing) in 1996. He was designated a Chartered Arbitrator by the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators in 2003.

As a practising lawyer Anthony Hussey's main expertise is in construction law. Outside of that field however he has been involved in a number of disputes requiring a knowledge of commercial law.

Anthony is currently a member of the Engineers Ireland Dispute Resolution Board and is the Vice Chairman of the Law Society Arbitration & Mediation Committee. He has spoken at numerous seminars on arbitration, conciliation and construction related matters. He is co-editor and co-author of Construction Projects: Law & Practice published by Thomson Reuters. He lectured for four years on the Law of Contract and Tort in a post graduate course at Trinity College, Dublin.
